

Australian alcohol policy research: Where does Australian Government funding go?

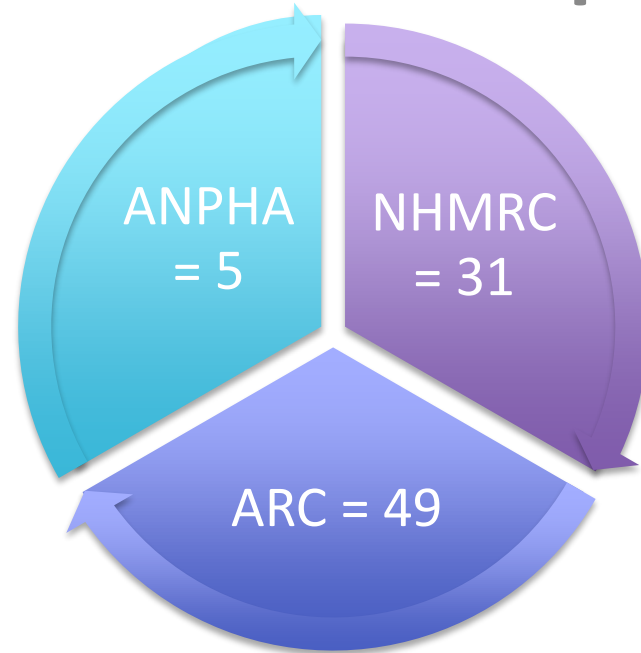

Katherine McLachlan, Senior Policy Officer

What is the current alcohol policy landscape?

http://travelblog.viator.com/wp-content/uploads/2011/08/Barossa-Valley-Vineyard-iStock_000012359379Small.jpg

From 2004 to 2012, the Australian Government funded 85 'alcohol' research projects

The 85 alcohol studies funded by the Government from 2004 to 2012 fell into 10 key themes

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people

Advertising, promotion, sponsorship, labelling

Drinking populations and patterns

Government regulation and policy

Infant and maternal health

Medical/biological

Price, tax and sales

Treatment and intervention

Workforce

Young people

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people

Infant and maternal health

Treatment

Workforce

Government regulation and policy

Advertising, promotion, sponsorship, labelling

Medical/biological

Price, tax and sales

Drinking population and patterns

Young people

17 of the 85 Government-funded 'alcohol' research projects related to alcohol policy

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people

Infant and maternal health

Treatment

(SBI)

Government regulation and policy

Advertising, promotion, sponsorship, labelling

Medical/biological

Price, tax and sales

Drinking population and patterns

Young people

The current alcohol policy landscape?

email me

katherine.mclachlan@fare.org.au

check out our website www.fare.org.au

follow us on twitter

@FAREAustralia

tell us what you think

www.drinktank.org.au

sign up to our e-newsletter